This Little Volume is Affectionately Dedicated to EMMET PIERCE THOMPSON,

now the only living child of Pierce C. and Elizabeth B. Thompson, who by his lifelong adherance to a strict principle of Right, his charity, self-sacrifice, tenderness and understanding, is teaching us how to make this world a better place by our living in it.

FOREWORD.

This publication is compiled and arranged by Amy U. Grover, Sec. of The Thompson-Beeson Family Association, by orders of that body and is a Record of Pierce C. and Elisabeth Beeson Thompson and their descendants to date with his parents, brothers and sisters and an incomplete record of their families, and her line of descent from 1682 taken from "Beeson Genealogy" by J. L. Beeson, of Millidgeville, Ga., a volume of 144 pages, containing valuable and authentic records and historical facts about the Beesons from their coming to America.

Nothing has, as yet, been learned of the Thompsons prior to 1784.

The Introduction consists of these facts as far back as now known, up to the union of the two families, also the relative connection of Wm. H. and R. B. Beeson of Middleport, Ohio, and Isaphine Underwood, Danville, Ohio, who attend our Reunions; after which it is The Thompson-Beeson Family Record with all data as accurate as can be procured. If errors occur they are unintentional, and to be regretted.

Explanation: The large figures are used to number each descendent in line, and are used in the center for each relative who has married. Those not married are given line number, with dates, etc. under parents family number.

The figure following the dash denotes generation, beginning with Pierce C. and Elisabeth Thompson as first and each generation is finished in rotation before beginning another, regardless of age.

To avoid repetition numbers are used for reference. No pages being given. Continue Record by using line number to record, births, deaths and marriages.

b. used for born, d. for died, m. for married.

Elisabeth B. Thompson spelled her name with s not z.

Alex Underwood ancestor of those related to the Thompson family, with Wm. Penn came to America from England. Jesse Underwood had two sons and two daughters who married in the Joseph Thompson family.

Tradition tells us that Rachel Ball was a relative of Gen. George Washington, thru his mother Mary Ball; also that Hannah Dustin was a relative of the Thompsons. She, in 1697 was taken captive by the Indians at her home in Haverhill, Mass., after they had killed her three day old babe. Later with the aid of her nurse and a white boy captive, she killed and scalped ten of the Indians and escaped, making her way home. We are unable, as yet to verify these kinships.

Ruth, the youngest child of Joseph and Rachel Thompson, when a few years old, left her mother, who was washing near the creek, to go to her father, at the mill which was some distance down stream, perhaps a quarter of amile. She had to cross on a plank to reach him. Later, something stopped the waterwheel and the father, reaching under the water to investigate, draw out the body of his baby girl.
